

1

antennae

What's in the air this month, edited by Nathalie Wilson

2

1 Big Game scored a goal with this dimmable LED 'Ball' table lamp designed for Tamawa, whose Belgian-made products all feature its signature Bakelite ball – six colours, £346 approx. Ring 00 32 2 762 05 06, or visit tamawa.be.

2 Slow founders Roberto di Filitto and Nathalie Schneider design things that draw on traditional craft skills and techniques while respecting the environment. With their 'Mute' notebooks (from £19.95 each), the duo pay homage to literature that's been forbidden reading through the ages. Will the scribbles you fill them with also be censored? Ring 00 39 055 221673, or visit slow-design.it.

4

3 Contemporary passementerie is often 'interesting' in the wrong sort of way. Not so these examples from Casamance's début 'Islington' and 'Ispahan' collections. From top: silk 'Rose Origami 743' and 'Rose Origami 1578' braid (both £25.60 per m; 16 colourways); and silk 'Effluve' fringe (£36 per m; 15 colourways). Ring 00 33 3 20 61 77 17, or visit casamance.com.

4 They've gone all Francophile over at historic wallpaper printers Cole & Son. Shown from top are 'Fontainebleau', inspired by the palace of the same name; 'Parterre', a nod to the classic trellises favoured by the French; and 'Bourlie', influenced by that château's 17th-century rhododendron gardens. How apt, then, that these papers (from £75 per 10m roll), which form part of its new 'Folie' collection, are to be launched at Deco Off, Paris, 23-27 Jan. Ring 020 8442 8844, or visit cole-and-son.com.

5

5 Teasel England's 'Ablington' sofa is British through and through – from its upholstery, which clients select from the company's own range of durable classic-wool weaves, right